DeGaulle to Oppose Cut in Tariffs

By CARL HARTMAN

GENEVA (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle's France today was blocking a move to declare a 50 per cent cut in tariffs as the official goal of the Kennedy Round negotiations to break down international trade barriers.

This is the maximum cut that can be made under the U.S. Trade Expansion Act put through by President John F. Kennedy in 1962.

France is unwilling to pledge itself to this figure even though it is a goal that the 75 nations in the talks are unlikely to achieve.

Some French industrialists fear a sharp lowering of tariffs will expose them to competition they can't meet.

Preliminary work on the Kennedy Round has been in progress.

City Attends Is Opposed by Dealers

Representatives of two companies who are seeking a franchise for the operation of a T. V. Antenna failed to appear for a scheduled meeting with the City Board of Directors last night. However, several local television dealers and service men who are opposed to the granting of such a franchise did appear and offered some additional information in support of their plea for a denial of the franchise.

Victor Cobb, spokesman for the group of local dealers, left some information with the board of directors pointing out that this type of service would not be under the regulation of the F.C.C. He said that the television industry and the Federal Communication Commission are concerned over the effect this type of programming could have on free T.V. programs now available through regular T.V. channels.

Mr. Calvin Hare, who owns property adjacent to the Oak-Haven sewage plant, asked the city board to move the location of a proposed lagoon to a site farther from the road. He offered to exchange some land for a part of the site now occupied by the sewer plant in order to get the lagoon as far from the public road as possible.

The board of directors authorized the City manager and the project engineer to work out the most satisfactory arrangement possible for the location of the lagoon and agreed to make the necessary exchange of property.

Thurman Wright, who operates a tomato production plant near Rocky Mount, appeared to discuss a blight that has attacked his tomato crop. He said the plant damage had been traced to a type of weed killer and they are trying to locate the source of contamination. He thought a possible source might come from hauling empty chemical drums to the city dump, and felt that there was some possibility that enough chemical could drift from empty containers to cause some plant damage. The city sanitation department said they have not seen any weed killer containers brought to the dump ground. The city directors ordered a careful check of the situation to see if such empty cans and drums were being hauled out of the city, or if any farmers or other users of weed killer were disposing of the containers at the city dump. They agreed to work with Mr. Wright in trying to locate the source of contamination.

Mr. Cecil Bittle, of the University of Arkansas Experiment Station brought in a number of tomato plants and laboratory reports which showed the damage was caused from this type of weed killer.

In other action, the board of directors approved the closing of a 25 ft. dedication between Walnut and Dewey street and a 25 ft. dedication extending down Dewey street from 12th street to the south line of lot 11, block 12 of the Shover Street School addition, and asked that an ordinance be prepared and submitted.

The Board also approved the acceptance of a deed from Thurman Ridling, covering a 50 foot street extending along the east side of his property from Shover road south to 16th street.

Braggart May Bore You But He's Guaranteeing Himself a Long Life

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Curbstone comments of a Pavement Plasterer.

Self-approval is one of the greatest keys to successful living.

To enjoy life more, learn to pat yourself on the back when you deserve it. The chances are you deserve it more often than you realize.

We are all familiar with the big bore who can talk only of his own aims, activities and achievements. If something did not happen to him, he feels it's a waste of time to bring it up. Conversation for him is usually just one long session of bragging.

Such a person is an example of egotism become rampant. He therefore assumes a comic quality, as most exaggerated things do, and we tell ourselves when not in his presence, "I'm glad I'm not like that one. He's really in love with himself."

But there is this to say on his behalf: He may bore others to death, but he won't bore himself to death. He probably will live to a ripe old age, because he has found a sure source of enthusiasm and excitement — himself. And it is through enthusiasm and excitement that we stay young.

There is a worse fate in this world than boring others — and that is to bore ourselves.

Too many of us as we grow older tend to lose our good opinion of ourselves. We let our goals grow rusty, permit our jobs to become ruts, and abandon in ourselves the faith that alone can sustain us.

For others to like us we must first learn self-approbation — to find some basic satisfaction in who we are and what we are trying to do with our lives. It is surprising how many people lose this essential satisfaction and wind up with an actual sense of self-dislike.

Most of the mental and emotional troubles that beset middle-aged or elderly people arise from a loss in them of a feeling that they are worthwhile members of worthwhile groups engaged in worthwhile enterprises.

Time erodes their sense of personal value. Their pursuits come to seem meaningless.

Sabotage to Give Castro New Trouble

By BEN F. MEYER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rumors are flying once again among Cuban exiles that new efforts will be made soon to topple Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

These reports, increasingly persistent both in Washington and in Miami, say the Castro Communist regime soon may find itself under terrorist and sabotage attacks both from within Cuba and from without.

The exiles say the outside groups will come from areas

Farm Bureau Supper on Thursday

The public is invited to come by the Farm Bureau building 806 West 4th Street and eat a delicious supper from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Thursday, May 7. The Ladies of the Farm Bureau will be serving chicken noodles, meatballs and spaghetti, vegetables, rolls and homemade pie, priced at 75c. If you would like to have your plate delivered, call PR 7-3852.

The purpose of this supper is to sponsor the attendance of an outstanding high school student of Hempstead County at the annual Americanism Seminar, June 7-13 on the Campus of Harding College at Searcy. The seminar is two fold: To award a trip and week's activities to students for outstanding accomplishment; and to inform, inspire and challenge the students to become more actively interested in their American heritage.

Hempstead County Farm Bureau sponsored the attendance of Jimmie Carver last year. He came back into the county making public talks on the wonderful week's activities, which included lectures by John Noble, former slave laborer in Russia, former FBI agents and authors, deans of colleges and Universities, sports activities, a number of films and other informative materials. The planned attendance will be about 250 students from all parts of the county.

Expenses, including tuition fees for room and board, will total $50.00 plus travel expenses, so please come by and enjoy a delicious meal and an evening of entertainment.

Nashville to Host Poultry Fete Saturday

The fifth annual Southwest Arkansas Poultry Festival will be held on Saturday, May 9, at Nashville.

The four previous festivals have been held in Hope but due to the concentration of poultry and egg production in the Southwest area the Chambers of Commerce of the cities of Nashville and Hope decided last year that each town should be given the opportunity to hold the festival every other year. Under this agreement the town holding the festival on any given year could expect the cooperation from the other in the matter of ticket sales, Princess contestants and Chicken Cooking Contests.

To carry out this agreement, the people of Hope are helping Nashville promote the festival this year so Nashville will help us in 1966. Following is a list of business and professional people who have purchased tickets for the event on Saturday at Nashville:

Record Flood Is Recalled Here in 1905

Fifty-nine years ago today Hempstead county and southwest Arkansas had a record-breaking flood, according to B. J. Ellis of Emmet Route Two, three miles east of DeAnn.

On May 5, 1905, Mr. Ellis says, record rainfall put creeks, branches and rivers on flood, producing 32 separate overflows in this region. There were no levees and no fences in those days, he continued, and property damage and loss of animals ran to disaster proportions.

Harry S. Truman, Now 80, Certain of Spot as Most Successful President

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harry S. Truman, as brisk and cocky as when he left the White House in 1953, will be 80 Friday and if over the years he has sounded self-satisfied, and still does, it's no wonder.

He doesn't have to worry about his place in history. It will be high up.

In 1952, not long before Truman turned over the presidency to Dwight D. Eisenhower, the American historian, Henry Steele Commager, said in 50 years historians would regard Truman's administration as "one of unparalleled success."

Ten years later the New York Times reported a survey of 75 American historians showed they listed Truman among the near-great presidents. They may plant him among the great in the years to come, by Commager's reckoning.

They named the great ones this way: Lincoln, Washington, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Wilson, Jefferson. This was their nearest list: Jackson, Theodore Roosevelt, Polk, Truman, John Adams, Cleveland.

Just before he retired, Truman, in interviews with newsmen who had covered his White House years, was asked: If he had it to do all over again, would he change anything? No, he said, and added: "If a president makes decisions that are right, and for the welfare of the people, it does not make any difference what is said about him while he is alive. The presidents who have done things, who were not afraid to act, have been the most abused."

Now, 12 years later, a newsmen asked the same question, got the same answer: "I would change nothing." Figuring he did his utmost and willing to be judged on that, he is adjusted to the thought of death.

He put it this way: "I know that when I am carried out feet first it can be said of me: 'He did his damndest.'"

No president in history ever had dumped on him a load more terrible than the one inherited when stepped into the White House April 12, 1945: a war to be finished in Europe and the Pacific; a country to be converted to peace, and, still undreamed of then, a cold war to be fought. Except that he had been a hard-working senator, he was an unknown quantity when he became president. He was overwhelmed. He said he felt the moon and stars had fallen on him. "Pray for me," he said.

But what he had was iron and the ability to make decisions. What he needed was good advice. He sought it. His first test: deciding to end the war with Japan by dropping atomic bombs on its cities.

By the fall of 1945 the cold war was taking shape. So was his thinking about it. In a speech on Oct. 27, 1945, he announced the United States would keep the secret of the atomic bomb, to be safe and preserve peace, and he called for a large armed force. Things piled up on him but he handled them all like iron.

In early 1946 he forced Stalin to pull his troops out of Iran. Early in 1947 he took America, once and for all, out of its ancient tradition of peacetime isolation.

With Greece overrun by Communist guerrillas and Turkey pressured by the Soviet Union, he proclaimed the Truman Doctrine: American help for nations struggling to survive. Greece and Turkey were saved.

The same year he launched the Marshall Plan of aid to shattered countries. Western Europe was put back on its feet, the rest of the non-Red world was helped. Since then the aid bill has reached $100 billion.

In 1948 and 1949, with the airlift he broke Stalin's Berlin blockade. In 1950 he decided to fight the Korean war. He was abused, denounced and tormented by people like Sen. Joseph McCarthy who never got off his back.

But the foreign policy he laid down in those years—as early as 1947—has been followed ever since by Presidents Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson with variations. The main point of it was: stop communism in its tracks.

What was the most tremendous decision of his presidency? He said it was not dropping the bombs on Japan but going into Korea.

He was asked once what was the high point of his White House years. He laughed and said it was his election to a full four-year term in 1948.

White Quartet at McCaskill

The Lee White quartet of Prescott will present a program Friday night, May 8, for the McCaskill RCL meeting in the community building. The public is invited to hear this well known quartet. The program will be preceded by a pot luck dinner at 7 p.m. All interested persons are urged to bring their potluck dish and share in the dinner fellowship. Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Prescott are hosts. It is suggested that everyone bring his own table service so as to avoid dish washing.

Asks Citizens to Join Hope Blood Bank

The Hempstead County Red Cross Chapter issued the following statement concerning a local blood bank:

We the citizens of Hempstead County are participating in one of the most important projects we have ever undertaken and we need your help. Therefore, we would like to explain it to you.

After thorough investigation and consideration, we have joined the Red Cross Blood Bank Program.

For years now, Hempstead County Memorial Hospital and Branch Hospital have had a list of volunteers donors that live in and around Hope who would give blood in case of emergency. This list is very small and there has been such a demand for blood until we have exhausted our donors.

Wallace in Indiana for the South

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP)—A foray into Indiana by segregationist Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace and the presence on Ohio's ballot of the famous names Taft and Glenn headlined primary elections today in six states and the District of Columbia.

In Indiana, Gov. Matthew E. Welsh—a stand-in for President Johnson—sought to blunt the impact of Wallace, who polled 33 per cent of Democratic primary votes in his first Northern bid in Wisconsin last month.

Wallace based his appeal on states rights and opposition to the Johnson administration's civil rights bill. But home-state opposition to a sales tax enacted during Welsh's administration was also expected to play a part in boosting Wallace's total.

In Ohio, Rep. Robert Taft Jr.—son of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft—was favored over conservative Secretary of State Ted W. Brown for the Republican senatorial nomination. Taft's House vote for the civil rights measure was strongly opposed by Brown.

On the Democratic side, Sen. Stephen M. Young, 75, faced an uncertain challenge from supporters of astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. Glenn, the first American to orbit the earth, withdrew last month because of a head injury.

But his name remained on the ballot, and some of his backers, convinced he is the only Democrat who can win in November, hoped to propel him back into the race by surprising Young.

Chief interest in other states centered on a Democratic gubernatorial fight in Florida, a sharp battle for Senate nominations in Oklahoma and the

15 Die in U.S. Crash in Viet Nam

TAN HIEP, South Viet Nam (AP)—A big U.S. Army Caribou transport plane burst into flames a few seconds after taking off today and crashed south of Saigon. It was the worst American military air disaster in Viet Nam.

All 15 persons aboard — nine Americans and six Vietnamese military personnel—were killed. The crash occurred 25 miles southwest of Saigon. The plane had taken off from the Tan military airfield bound for the South Viet Nam capital.

Two American helicopters arrived at the scene two minutes after the crash. Others from Tan Hiep followed quickly. It was too late to help those aboard the plane.

Eight bodies were thrown from the blazing wreckage into the rock-hard rice field beside a Vietnamese village. The helicopter crews sprayed the bodies with fire extinguishers and dragged them to the edge of the field.

The other bodies were pulled from the charred wreckage. One of the pilots had to be cut from his seat.

Witnesses at Tan Hiep said the twin-engine Caribou's left engine was smoking as it took

Wage-Line Must Hold, Says LBJ

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, concerned lest a prosperous economy breed inflation, has urged labor leaders to help hold the wage-price line by adhering to "sensible and fair" government guidelines for wage settlements.

Speaking to 19 union chiefs and their wives at a White House dinner Monday night, Johnson—as he did at a similar gathering of industrialists last week — dangled the carrot of "another tax cut in a few years" if the economy keeps expanding.

But he warned: "We surely do not want this promise of progress to be threatened by inflation."

Some of the union leaders already have announced they would ignore the guidelines in negotiations this year and Johnson lectured them on the possible hazards in a growing economy.

"As demand increases and unemployment falls, managers will be tempted to raise prices—in spite of the already high profits and continuing excess capacity — and unions will be tempted to force wages up faster than productivity, in spite of already high wages and continuing excessive unemployment," Johnson said.

He said he knew one side is inclined to blame the other for irresponsibility but he declared: "I do not believe labor or business wants another wage-price spiral any more than Barry Goldwater wants to run on the same ticket with Nelson Rockefeller."

"For such a spiral steals savings—eats away at real wages—bleeds the meager income of our older citizens—gives orders and jobs to foreign competitors—and undermines the soundness of the dollar."

Johnson faced a difficult task in trying to convince the union leaders to keep with the guidelines, which were set forth by the late President John F. Kennedy.

They provide for wage settlements limited to industry's annual increase in output per worker since World War II — or roughly 3 per cent.

AFL-CIO President George Meany, one of Monday night's guests, has served notice the labor federation will not be bound by the administration's guidelines.

Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Automobile Workers, signaled he will ignore them in his contract negotiations beginning in June with the Big Three automakers—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler. Johnson called the wage-price guidelines sensible and fair and added: "They are in the public interest and while I cannot — and will not — force anyone to follow them, I can call them to your attention and ask for your cooperation."

Travelers No. 1, Beating Dallas 9-2

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arkansas trounced Dallas 9-2 and gained uncontested title to the top spot in the Eastern Division while Portland edged Denver 4-3 to grab the Western lead in Pacific Coast League baseball Monday.

Salt Lake City, which had shared Eastern honors with Arkansas, dropped a contest to Seattle 4-2. Spokane lost its Western Division lead by bowing to Tacoma by the same score.

In other games, Oklahoma City smothered Indianapolis 12-5 and San Diego fought off a rally by the Hawaii Islanders for a 10-9 victory.

The Dallas Rangers matched Arkansas in hits—14—but could not get near their opponents in the score column. Winning pitcher Morris Stevens pitched eight innings. Most of the Rangers' hits were singles, but Arkansas' Lee Alia doubled twice and homered.

Portland came from behind with two runs in the ninth inning with singles by Willie Tasby and Dick Booker and a double by Gordon Lund for its win over Denver. Denver had gone ahead in the sixth inning 3-2 on a solo homer by Lou Klimchuck. Only 401 fans braved temperatures in the low 40s to watch the game.

Roger Sinner held the Spokane Indians to two hits as Tacoma knocked them out of the division lead. Tacoma scored two runs in the first inning and maintained the advantage to the 4-2 conclusion. The teams ended a series with two wins apiece.

Seattle snapped a five-game losing streak in its 4-2 victory. Rico Petrocelli paced the Rainier attack with three hits. He scored on and drove in two runs. The game was played in a steady rain which caused the scheduled second game to be postponed.

Joe Wooten drove in five runs and Dave Roberts four during Oklahoma City's 16-hit assault against Indianapolis. Wooten hit two homers and Roberts one. Bob Catton and Ramon Conde produced four of the Indians' runs with homers.

Two home runs apiece by Don Pavletich and Tommy Helms and one each by Art Shamsky and Tony Perez built a 10-2 lead for San Diego in its game at Hawaii. Pitcher Dan Neville coasted along for 8 1/3 innings, then the roof almost fell in.

A three-run homer by Islander Jack Hiatt started the fireworks. Three singles, a homer by Herb Plews and a double by Bob Perry brought the score to 10-9 before the side was retired with Perry stranded on third.

off and the smoke thickened as the plane rose. The control tower told the pilot the engine was on fire.

"He seemed to get control of the fire for a moment," a witness said, "and appeared to have feathered his engines, probably with his carbon dioxide containers. The plane seemed to wheel around, got up to about 100 feet and then plunged down over the treeline two miles away with the engine blazing again."

Another American at the field commented: "When you're at that height and trouble happens there is nothing much you can do."

Viet Cong snipers have shot at planes landing and taking off at Tan Hiep, but American officers at the field said there was no reason to believe Communist bullets had hit the Caribou.

"Apparently it was a mechanical failure," one officer said. Five American visitors from Clark Air Force Base, in the Philippines, would have been aboard the plane if the pilot had not been impatient to take off.

M. Set. James Tucker of Gainesville, Ga., said he and the other four soldiers were racing across the airstrip to get the plane for Saigon. They nearly reached it, but the pilot impatiently waved them away.

The Caribou is a twin-engine, Canadian-made aircraft designed to provide rapid mobility for troops, equipment and supplies in forward battle areas. It can carry 32 fully equipped soldiers.

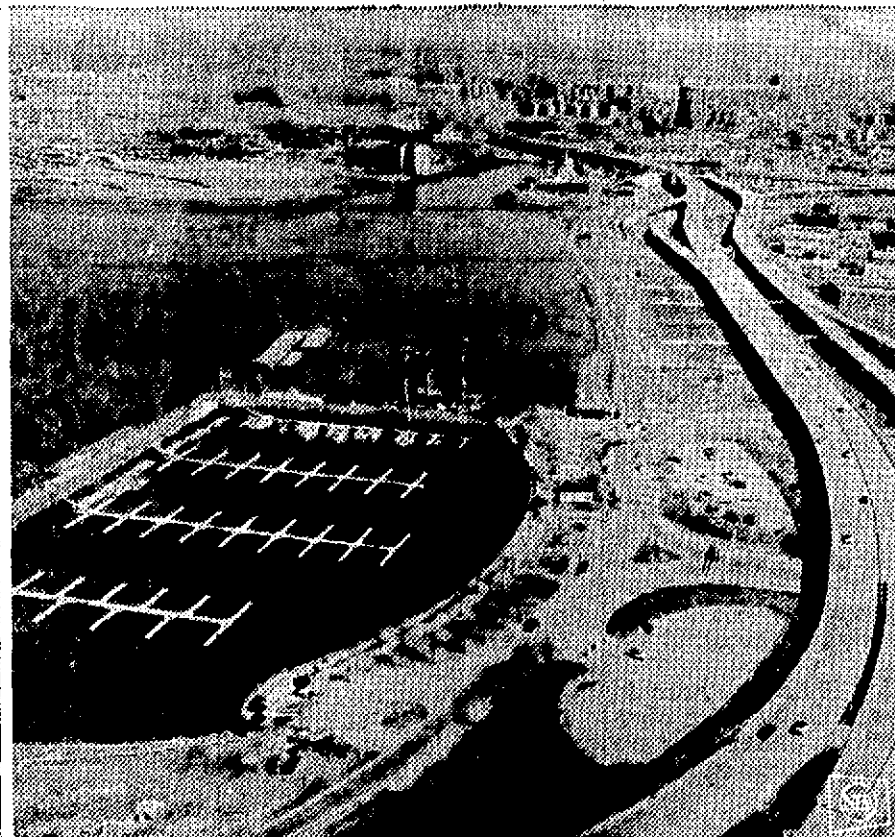

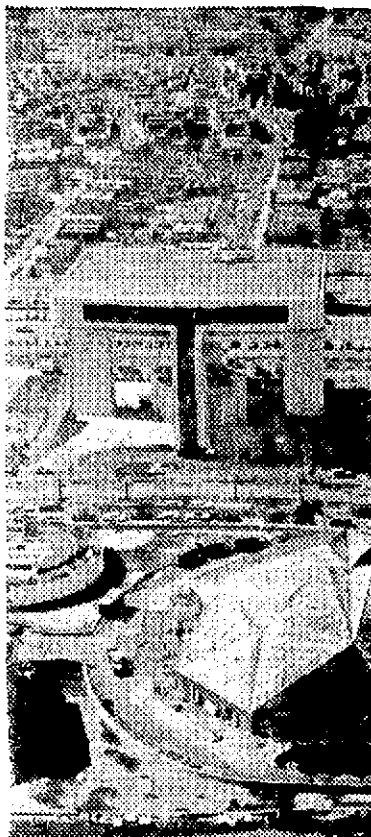

In Saigon, meanwhile, Vietnamese taxi drivers threatened a "drive on" against the U.S. Embassy because of the fatal shooting of two Vietnamese taxi drivers. The shootings were blamed on Americans.

There have been no arrests. The second driver was shot with a pistol on a Saigon street shortly after midnight.

A Vietnamese policeman and a civilian claimed they saw the shooting and that an English-speaking man, probably an American, was involved.

U.S. sources said that follow-other than the United States. Such a move, they explain, would avoid international complications for Washington as well as interference by U.S. planes and ships with such raiding parties.

U.S. officials appeared surprised when asked about the rumors. They indicated they had no information whatever about any such plans by the exiles, although they said they had read recently a statement by one Cuban exile leader, Manolo Ray, now living in Peto Rico, that he and other leaders will be fighting inside Cuba by May 20.

The only major organized effort to overthrow the Castro government came in April 1961, when Cuban exiles, with U.S. help failed in a sea and land attack against the Castro forces at the Bay of Pigs.

The exiles say a different type operation — much smaller than the Bay of Pigs in some ways, and much larger in others — is being planned.

They indicated the new attempt against Castro would be in the form of persistent sabotage, terrorist and subversion tactics, with no one large group in action, but as many smaller groups functioning as can be organized.

Exile forces have been claiming that despite intensive anti-subversive activity by the Castro government, opposition forces are finding it increasingly possible to infiltrate Cuba.

The anti-Castro groups apparently are depending heavily on what they insist is increasing disenchantment with the Castro government in Cuba.

Intelligence reports in Latin American diplomatic circles, however, suggest that the Castro Communist dictatorship has become increasingly powerful as a state police organization, with little chance for sabotage.

issue of unpledged presidential electors in Alabama.

No contests of national significance were on the ballot in either New Mexico or the District of Columbia.

The Welsh-Wallace battle in Indiana—three minor candidates were also entered — overshadowed a GOP primary race between Arizona Senator Barry Goldwater, former Minnesota Gov. Harold E. Stassen and two minor candidates. Goldwater, leading the GOP delegate race with 209 of the 655 needed for the presidential nomination, was rated a cinch to pick up Indiana's 32 national convention votes.

Democratic and Republican leaders forecast record half-million voter turnouts for each primary. Welsh supporters prepared to challenge known Republicans who tried to vote in the Democratic primary. Under Indiana law, primary voters are required to pledge support to the party in the general election.

Wallace wound up his campaign, in which he faced jeering pickets and hecklers but also drew applause, with an appeal Monday to the Indianapolis Service Club. He repeated his belief that "if I get any significant vote we're going to knock the eye teeth out of the liberals in both parties."

In a news conference, Welsh accused Wallace of "begging for a crossover vote (from Republicans)" and said the Alabamian "solicits support even from the John Birch Society." Welsh declined to predict the primary results.

In Indiana four years ago, two little-known candidates — also entered today — drew some 20 per cent of the vote against the late John F. Kennedy.

The civil rights issue also hung over the Taft-Brown contest in Ohio. Some Ohio politicians reportedly felt white voters would give a strong protest vote to Brown, a veteran state office-holder whose backers include many supporters of Goldwater for president.

Sen. Young, who celebrated his 75th birthday Monday, remained confident he would be renominated. If he scores an upset, Glenn, who is recovering slowly from the injury suffered in a bathroom fall, would have until Aug. 14 to withdraw.

Valery Giscard d'Estaing, De Gaulle's minister of finance and

Ohio Republicans also vote on an unopposed 58-member convention delegation. Pledged on the first ballot to the party's favorite son, Gov. James A. Rhodes, it was heavily weighted with Goldwater supporters.

In Florida, the mayors of Jacksonville and Miami, and four present or past state legislators were competing for the Democratic nod to succeed retiring Gov. Farris Bryant, a Democrat who can't succeed himself. Democratic Sen. Spessard L. Holland, seeking a fourth term, had primary opposition from Brailley Odham, a self-styled Kennedy - Johnson supporter.

If no Democratic gubernatorial candidate receives a majority, the two high men will meet in a May 26 runoff. Three Republicans seek the GOP designation for governor. Republican voters are also choosing between two pro-Goldwater slates of national convention delegates.

The Oklahoma contest featured the first bid for elective office by former University of Oklahoma football coach Bud Wilkinson, running for the GOP senatorial nomination against former State Chairman Forrest Beall and Thomas J. Harris, staunch supporter of a right-to-work proposal also being voted on.

Among the Democrats, incumbent J. Howard Edmondson, seeking the remainder of the late Sen. Robert S. Kerr's term, was in a tough fight with State Sen. Fred Harris and former Gov. Raymond Gary. All three oppose the right-to-work measure.

Alabama Democrats decide whether the slate of electors to be listed in November in the Democratic column will be pledged to the party's presidential nominee. Wallace backs an unpledged slate.

The Common Market and the United States are the two giants of the Kennedy Round. Its success depends on agreement between them.

Leading figures at the session agreed that little or nothing could be done in the two or three days of top-level meetings this week.

It will be at least a year, and probably more, before the Kennedy Round produces any binding agreements.

But there is strong hope that this meeting will result in at least a statement of the 50 per cent goal. There also is expectation that Sept. 10 will be set as the deadline for submitting lists of exceptions—items on which participating countries will not accept across-the-board tariff cuts but will insist on negotiating separately.

At closed meetings of the Common Market countries that lasted late into the night, authoritative sources said the French held out against both these points.

China Sees

—That he deliberately built up the October 1962 missile crisis to humiliate Fidel Castro so that the Cuban regime would be overthrown in favor of Moscow-trained Communists.

—That he sent agents to Peking to foment trouble between Chinese and Africans, particularly in the university.

—That he plotted the Hungarian uprising in 1956 in a deal with Yugoslav President Tito, only to have it backfire into full-blown revolution.

—That he bludgeoned Communist-ruled nations with threats of economic reprisals so they would toe his line. The book said he threatened to boycott the sugar of one nation (obviously Cuba) and that he threatened to expel others from the Communist family, hinting that those threatened were Romania and North Viet Nam or North Korea.

—That his policies caused rebellion against his rule in Soviet central Asia.

—That the Romanian party accused him of advocating abandonment of collectivization.

—That Khrushchev had to purge Czechoslovak and East

German Communist leaders for opposing his line.

—That he bled Red China for repayment of every ruble loaned for the prosecution of the Korean war.

The book, citing little-known documents which must have been supplied by the Red Chinese, goes far back in the history of the Moscow-Peking dispute to portray "flea-bitten Khrushchev" as an "adventurist, opportunist, traitor, manipulator, stage manager — all of which produce the modern revisionist."

The author, once again seeming to echo Peking, predicts that Romania will be the next European Communist nation to join Albania in breaking away from the Khrushchev camp. He says Romanian Communist chief Gheorghe Gheorghiu-Dej "is a brave man, and the world will soon see the Romanian Peoples Republic also proving its national sovereignty."

Since the book was published, Romanian leaders have traveled to Peking and have been pictured in the forefront of efforts to soft-pedal the Moscow-Peking dispute. But Gheorghiu-Dej did fail to show up at a round of Khrushchev meetings recently with satellite leaders.

Arkansas State 'Chutist Wins

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Ken Sisler, a senior at Arkansas State College won the individual championship in the National Collegiate Parachute League Championships in Lake Geneva, Wis., Sunday.

The Arkansas State team of Sisler, Andy Wargo, Elroy Cantrell and Ronald Biggs placed fourth in the meet behind Southern Illinois, Texas A&M and Air Force.

Asks Citizens

Continued From Page One to do our duty as other cities have done and participate in the Red Cross Blood Bank Program, also.

In order to participate in this program, we must have 100 pints of blood four times a year from individuals of Hempstead County and in order to do so, we must have from 125 to 150 volunteers four times a year, as some volunteers will be eliminated for various reasons.

We ask that you consider this project carefully as it is very essential. It will be our only source of supply.

You will only be called on to give once a year or less if we have full cooperation. The Red Cross will set the designated time and place during the year for donors to report. You will be notified your time to report.

There will be sufficient Doctors, Nurses, and technicians from Hope present to handle the procedures as it should be handled, protecting your health and safety.

Any time any person enters Branch Hospital or Hempstead County Memorial Hospital, it will be available immediately as the Red Cross will keep the hospitals stocked at all times.

We are not only asking for men donors; but for women donors also. You will be checked by a Hope Doctor to determine if your physical condition will permit you to be a donor.

All Doctors in Hope are endorsing this program 100%. Their concern is for you, the Citizens of Hempstead County. Won't you give them your full cooperation?

Our first schedule will be in June. Only 125 to 150 people from Hempstead County will be called on at that time; but we must have a file set up to work from.

Please take inventory in your home and see how many are of the age ranging from 18-55 that are able to do so, please assume your own responsibility by signing the form below and mailing it promptly to the Hope Chamber of Commerce, Hope, Arkansas.

We ask your consideration and your cooperation in this most important program. The Life you save may be your Own.

Malvern Man Taken by FBI

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Roy K. Moore, special agent in charge of the Little Rock FBI office, said John Robert Bailey, 44, a native of Malvern, was arrested Monday night at Hayward, Calif.

Bailey was placed on the FBI's list of "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives" on April 21. Moore said Bailey was arrested by FBI agents in a Hayward residential area where he was working as a plumber.

He was held on a charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution at Hot Springs, where he is charged with the armed robbery of a motel Feb. 22, 1962.

There's a wealth of styles to choose from in this summer's swimsuit collections. Two-piece knit (left) has solid color boy-leg pants and separate floral-patterned top. A draw-string at the hem permits top to be worn fully bloused when drawn tight or to hang loosely when not drawn. Elongated, bold patterned tunic (center) has Mandarin slits at either side and a corded belt. Squared neckline leads to wide, adjustable, buttoned shoulder straps. Knit boy-leg pants are in solid color. These are Robby Len designs. The denim look (right) by Lee Beachwear is for the young at heart. One-piece suit sports simulated pockets in saddle stitching on solid color pants. Row of pearl buttons accents long striped bodice. Two-piece suit has patch pocket at back of pants. These two suits are bound to be whistle bait.

Lingerie ranks second only to hosiery as a Mother's Day gift. And not in many a spring has there been such a flurry of flattering fashions to choose from. Antron nylon tricot offers easy care and beauty in the Stella Fagin bedjacket (left). Double edging of Alencon-type nylon lace forms the collar and circles the sleeves. Newest version of the toga is the sarong gown (right) by Eve Stillman. Dacron textured crepe is splashed with flowers. Wrap-around styling makes this gown ideal for expectant mothers, too.

"DEAR ABBY"

On The Birds
By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: "Know My Birds" doesn't know much. The male of the species is handsomely bedecked with colorful plumage in order to lure the female during the mating season. The female is drab and plain so she'll not attract too much attention, thereby diverting her from her maternal responsibilities. It is just the opposite with the human animal, however. The female does the strutting, preening, chasing and ultimately the capturing. Although Nature originally made her plain and drab, she soon learned the tricks of padding, girdling, painting and trapping like no other animal on earth. But no amount of trickery could alter the biological laws. And the female must continue to endure the pregnancies and bear the young. Ho ho ho

Male
Dear Abby: Whoever signed himself "Knows My Birds" certainly does not. We had an adorable little bluish green parakeet named Dickie. He talked a blue streak. Apparently nobody told Dickie that only male parakeets could talk because when Dickie was two years old, "he" laid an egg I thank you. Amazed

Dear Abby: Several weeks ago, bird-watcher said in effect that the females were prettier than the males, but that they were useless. And you let him get away with it. Having given him one barrel about who laid the eggs, you should have let him have the other barrel and asked him if he had ever seen a pair of ring-necked pheasants, or wood cocks, or Kentucky cardinals, or ruby-throated hummingbirds, or indigo buntings. The males are marvelously colorful. The females are not. Nature colored the females protectively, to help perpetuate the species. Of course, male and female doves, chickadees, blue-jays and may others are similarly marked. But I can think of no bird hereabouts among which the female is more attractive than the male.

Bill The Bird Man
Dear Abby: No, no, no! You are wrong, wrong, wrong! The female of the feathered family is not more beautiful! The peacock is the gorgeous one. The peahen fades in with the back-

Bubble Gum or No, Pena Is a Winner

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Orlando Pena can leave his bubble gum and crayons at home as long as Rocky Colavito keeps the horns tootin'.

The Kansas City hurler, who drew reprimands last week for his habit of blowing bubbles while pitching and marking his glove with crayons, beat the Los Angeles Angels 7-4 Monday night for the A's third straight victory.

Pena didn't have any of his playthings with him but he had Colavito and that was all he needed. The Rock crashed his seventh and eighth homers of the year, each time setting off the complicated system of lights and horns which greet each Athletic homer in Municipal Stadium.

The circuit shots gave Colavito the American League lead and kept the horns tooting overtime. The A's have belted eight homers in the last three games and 24 in their 12 home games.

Colavito's first homer, with the bases empty in the fifth, gave Kansas City a 3-2 edge. He also connected in the eighth with Jim Gentile aboard, and Bill Bryan followed with another home run for the A's.

The victory nudged the A's to within one-half game of owner Charles Finley's No. 1 targets, the New York Yankees, who, along with the Detroit Tigers, were idle.

In other American League games, Chicago overcame two Bob Allison homers and beat Minnesota 10-5; Leon Wagner clubbed a grand-slam homer as Cleveland defeated Boston 7-4 and Baltimore exploded for an eight-run inning on just four hits while walloping Washington 11-4.

In the National League, Denny Lemaster's two-hitter edged New York 2-1 for Milwaukee; Pittsburgh dropped Cincinnati 4-2; St. Louis dropped Philadelphia out of first place for the first time, 9-2 in a rhubarb-filled game; San Francisco edged Houston 3-2 in 12 innings as Willie Mays clouted his 10th homer and Sandy Koufax fired a three-hitter, fanning 13 as Los Angeles nipped Chicago 2-1 in 10 innings.

The Angels bounced back to tie the A's after Colavito's first homer. But Nelson Mathews doubled with one out in the seventh and came home with the go-ahead run when Pena stroked a clutch single.

The eighth-inning homers by Colavito and Bryan iced Pena's third victory in five decisions. Allison drove in four Minnesota's runs with his fifth and sixth homers but the White Sox produced a nibbling attack to win it. Three infield hits, a walk, a wild pitch and clutch singles by Al Weis and pitcher Joel Horlen produced a six-run sixth that gave Chicago the lead.

Wagner snapped a 3-3 tie with his seventh-inning shot off rookie Bill Spanwick. The veteran outfielder also singled in another Indian run hiking his league-leading runs batted in total to 19.

Bright Light May Help the Mets

NEW YORK (AP)—Will visibility improve the New York Mets?

Probably not, but the Mets are going to try. They will play their first night game in their new Shea Stadium Wednesday night against the Cincinnati Reds—who started the whole business of getting the baseball troops out of the hot sun, back in 1935.

And the Mets are going to have twice as much light, which is not a bad idea since they are back in the cellar again.

The lights in the new park will be turned on in ceremony just before the game starts. Chief button pusher will be Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., now assistant secretary of commerce, whose President father did the job May 24, 1935.

The Cincinnati park was lighted with eight towers containing 616 bulbs, for the 1935 inaugural. The lamps were about 1,500 watts each, for a total of about one million watts.

Shea Stadium has only two light towers. The other lights are hung on the rim of the roof. There are 1,600 bulbs—half of them mercury and half quartz, giving both brilliant and soft light—in the Shea Stadium system, and they provide about two million watts.

That may still not be enough to make the Mets look good.

Montreal Star No. 1 in Hockey

MONTREAL (AP)—Jacques Laperriere, the young defenseman who helped the Montreal Canadiens to a surprise regular season title, today was named winner of the Calder Memorial Trophy as the National Hockey League's rookie-of-the-year.

Laperriere collected a total of 117 points in the voting by hockey writers and broadcasters in each of the circuit's six cities. The voting was done after the first half of the campaign, based on games through Dec. 31, and again after the close of the season.

Laperriere led with 53 points in the first half and again with 64 points in the second half. He will receive $1,500 from the league—$1,000 for winning the trophy and $500 for leading in each half.

Laperriere is only the second defenseman to win the Calder Trophy. Kent Douglas of the Toronto Maple Leafs was chosen the outstanding rookie last year. John Ferguson of Montreal was the runner-up this year with 65 points. He will receive $500.

Koufax Beats Cubs With 13 Strikeouts

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer
Sandy Koufax threw 39 strikes. Bob Gibson threw two beanballs and one bat.
Koufax won. Gibson didn't.
Moral: Strikes are more effective—and less expensive.

Koufax, making his first start since injuring his arm April 22, pitched the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 2-1, 10-inning victory over the Chicago Cubs Monday night, allowing only three hits and striking out 13 in an impressive return.

It was the 52nd time in his major league career that Koufax had struck out 10 or more from the record of 54 held by 10-strikeout performances away in a game, leaving him only two both Kube Wadden and Bon Feller.

Gibson, meanwhile, got involved in the first beanball incident of the season and drew an automatic $50 fine along with Philadelphia's Jack Baldschun. The St. Louis right-hander also left himself open for further action when he was ejected for throwing his bat toward the mound in the fourth inning.

Gibson threw two fast balls at the head of Phillies' pitcher Dennis Bennett in the third inning, apparently in retaliation for Bennett's decking the Cardinals' Julian Javier in the second inning. Gibson drew a warning from plate umpire Doug Harvey—and with it the automatic $50 fine.

Then, in the fourth, with Baldschun on the mound for the Phillies, Gibson was hit in the side by a pitch, and flipped his bat toward the mound. Baldschun immediately drew a warning and the automatic fine while Gibson drew a thumb from Harvey.

Gibson not only lost money—but a victory as well. When he left the Cardinals were leading 5-1 and won 9-2, Gibson, however, did not qualify for the triumph because he didn't pitch the required five innings.

Who got the easy victory? Lucky Roger Craig.

In other National League action, a fight broke out after Milwaukee had edged the New York Mets 2-1 behind Denny Lemaster's two-hit pitching. Willie Mays hit home run No. 10 in San Francisco's 3-2, 12-inning victory over Houston and Pittsburgh defeated Cincinnati 4-2.

In the American League, Baltimore crushed Washington 11-4. Cleveland whipped Boston 7-5. The Chicago White Sox walloped Minnesota 10-5 and Kansas City downed the Los Angeles Angels 7-4. The New York Yankees and Detroit were not scheduled.

Koufax had a one-hitter going until the eighth when Andre Rodgers tied the score 1-1 with a homer. The Dodgers won in the 10th when Dick Ellsworth, who allowed only eight hits, walked Dick Tracowski, hit Koufax on the foot with a pitch and then was touched for a single up the middle by Maury Wills.

Hornung Is Back With Green Bay

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—It's official: The Golden Boy is back.

Quietly, without fanfare and in a very routine manner, the Green Bay Packers mailed out a short, prepared release today that Paul Hornung, their all-everything halfback, has signed for his seventh season in the National Football League.

Hornung, a three-time NFL scoring leader, sat out all of last year under suspension by Commissioner Pete Rozelle for betting on games. His was the biggest name involved in the NFL scandals of a year ago.

Both he and Alex Karras, Detroit Lion defensive tackle also under suspension, were reinstated last month.

"I don't expect to have any trouble coming back insofar as physical condition is concerned," Hornung said. "The biggest trouble should be in regaining my timing. I'll be working out with Bart Starr (Green Bay quarterback) and with his help I should be able to regain it."

No figures were mentioned in the routine release—which included Hornung's name with those of three other backs—but estimates of Hornung's salary were in the $25,000-$30,000 range about what he was receiving before the suspension.

The 28-year-old back led the league in scoring in 1959, 1960 and 1961, then missed about half of the 1962 season because of military service. He was still able to help the Packers to their second straight NFL championship.

When he was suspended last season, the Packers slipped to second in the Western Division behind league champion Chicago.

Some men never outgrow the need for a wagon

A wagon has a way with men. Always has. Always will. Especially when it's a Dodge Wagon. Case in point: that Polara shown above. As rugged and handsome a carryall as you've ever laid hands on.

Inside—saddle-grained vinyl that resists cracking, scuffing, shrinking, stretching. Hand-filled carpeting on the floor. A center armrest in front that snaps down solidly under your arm.

And there's room. Big, open room you can cram to the roof. Seating for six or nine passengers. And underhood—a choice of engines ranging from a frisky Six to an optional, rip-roaring 426 cubic inch V8. It's a tough combination to beat.

Look 'em over at your Dodge Dealer's. The wagons that have a way with men—Dodge Wagons. Man-sized. Man-powered. Eight versions to pick from. (And you might as well bring along your better half. Seems the gals prefer the big, strong, silent type, too.)

Pledges U.S. Cooperation on Tariffs

By CARL HARTMAN

GENEVA (AP) — President Johnson pledged United States help to bring the Kennedy round of tariff negotiations "to a happy and fruitful conclusion."

Former Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, the President's chief trade negotiator, delivered Johnson's message to the formal opening session today of the Kennedy round.

The session marked the beginning of a marathon tariff cutting effort by the 75 members of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade — GATT — expected to continue for at least two years.

"Upon the opening of this meeting of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, an important and effective instrument for the expansion of world trade, I should like to send you the best wishes for success from the people of the United States," Johnson said.

"Your meetings, universally known as the Kennedy round, exemplify the hope and commitment of our late president to bring together the nations of the world in peaceful pursuits. I believe, as he did, in the necessity of success in your work."

"We in the United States look upon these negotiations as an important opening to a better world. If we act together with dedication of purpose, all can gain and none need lose. Not only the major commercial nations, but all the countries of this shrinking world—poor and rich alike—have the right to expect success from our endeavors."

"For the United States, I can assure you that we shall spare no effort in seeking to help bring this meeting and the meetings which will follow, to a happy and fruitful conclusion."

Hard bargaining on tariff cuts cannot begin before Sept. 10, authoritative sources said. That is the date when 75 of the nations have tentatively agreed to submit their lists of exceptions—goods and products which they refuse to submit to blanket tariff cuts.

Herter's U.S. delegation has congressional authorization to seek across-the-board tariff cuts of 50 per cent.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The thing about interviewing Michael Parks is that you're not sure whether he's going to answer you or slug you.

That's the impression he gives at first. Later you realize this is an earnest young man who might have something to say.

Who is Michael Parks?

Michael Parks is by his own description "a 10-year overnight success." His looks and talent have convinced the Universal City moguls to give him an all-out push to stardom. He has just finished two starring roles: "Duffy and 'Bus Riley's Back in Town." He's Bus Riley in the latter, playing opposite Ann-Margaret and Janet Margolin in a William Inge script.

Mike was born in Corona, Calif., 26 years ago, one of five children of a truck driver. He left home at 15 and did everything from picking peas to upholstering caskets, managing to put in three years of college.

He also picked up seven years of stage experience in theaters from Long Beach to Sacramento.

"These casting guys don't even know those theaters exist," says Mike. "They have better actors than these Sunset Boulevard characters with the fancy haircuts, tight pants, straight noses and capped teeth. They are the only kind of casting people look at."

He speaks from bitter experience. For many months his agent tried to peddle him to the studios with no takers. Parks

We wish to express our grateful appreciation to Dr. McKenzie and the nursing staff of Memorial Hospital for their wonderful care during the illness and death of our husband and father; also to our friends and neighbors for their many kindnesses.

Boys Watched for Radioactivity

NEW YORK (AP)—The parents of 16 boys kept an anxious eye of the youngsters today for signs they might have suffered ill effects from playing near a radioactive device.

The boys, aged 10 to 14, were rushed to a hospital Sunday after they were spotted playing near an X-ray machine being used to test for flaws in steel beams in construction of the new Metropolitan Opera House.

The examining physician at Roosevelt Hospital said that in cases of radioactive exposure where there is no nausea or external burns, there is no test that could determine whether there was any injury.

He released the boys to their parents, telling them that if the children developed any unusual symptoms they would be returned to the hospital.

The X-ray device, contained in a lead box the size of an overnight case, is used only on Sundays when there are no workers about.

Dishwashers Fate to Be Decided

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP)—Police will decide today what to do with a lonely young dishwasher who said he picked up a 3-year-old boy in New York City because "he looked lost and cold."

The dishwasher, James Savage, 17, admitted picking up Timothy Hughes near the World's Fair Saturday and bringing him 25 miles by bus to his rented room in Woodbridge. The boy was found there Sunday, unharmed and apparently well cared for.

Savage, a runaway from a state school who has been in 25 foster homes, was held in Middlesex County juvenile detention quarters, booked on an open charge.

Timothy was back in Queens, N.Y., with his policeman father, Gerard, his mother, Lorraine, and brother, Richard, 7.

New York police had conducted a block-by-block search for the boy in the Flushing section of Queens, where he was last seen by his mother in a playground.

Savage said he spotted the boy outside the World's Fair, about eight blocks from the playground, at 5 p.m. Saturday. "He looked lost and cold," Savage told police, "and I've been lost and cold myself."

He said he had tried to find the boy's parents.

didn't fit the leading man formula. His hair is blond and wild; his wide-jawed face is freckled. His nose is full and slightly off-center. His teeth are all his own.

Parks managed to land some television roles, but nothing really sparked until he did a part on "Channing" this season. Some important studio people championed his cause. The result: The two starring features and the star-making campaign.

His feelings about the fuss that is being made over him are mixed.

"I like doing features," he said. "I like the attention you can give to a role. It's like doing a play, whereas a television show is like doing a scene, it's over so fast."

What he doesn't like is some of the publicity, especially when stories come out comparing him to his predecessors among the movies' angry young men.

"That's stupidity," he said. "If that's all the better some reporters can come up with, I don't want to see them the second time."

His ambition soars high. "I'd like to do a play in New York, and Inge says he wants to write for me," he says. "I'd like to do a play in London. I'd like to have a repertory company, not only for stage but films, too."

Television and Radio

NEW YORK (AP)—"Made in America," the CBS panel show that tried to substitute the sight of millionaires for an amusing game and big money prizes, died Sunday night as it had lived—briefly and ingloriously.

Its demise after only four performances makes it runnerup for the shortest-lived show of the season. ABC's "100 Grand" early this season was hastily removed, after three performances—or was it two?

The spot in the network's Sunday night schedule has proved to be a sort of television Death Valley — "The Judy Garland Show" fought a losing struggle there earlier.

The network proposes to finish out the season with another hard-luck show called "Brenner," about a father and son who are cops. It was seen several seasons back and again in some reruns, but the episodes to be shown have never been broadcast before.

NBC's "Incident on Wilson Street" Sunday night was an interesting effort to show sensitive, concerned teachers attempting to help fifth and sixth grade children living in a decaying Brooklyn neighborhood.

It was not entirely successful because sometimes the children and adults seemed a little self-conscious, but mostly because the kind of remedial work the teachers are doing is not dramatic and requires much time and patience.

While network radio is currently excited about discovering interviews and conversation instead of music and news, the lady who is generally credited with the first radio interview show celebrates her 30th anniversary in broadcasting today—with an hour interview show as usual.

Mary Margaret McBride, who retired from network radio several years ago, now lives happily on a mountainside in the Catskill Mountains overlooking a big lake and a white birch forest. She treats broadcasting as a beloved hobby, doing three sponsored programs a week — from her home.

Court Ruling Favorable to Non-Believers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to review a decision that conscientious objectors need not believe in a supreme being to be exempted from military service.

The decision was given by the U.S. Court of Appeals in New York. It said exemption may be based on deeply rooted beliefs and sentiments.

A requirement that conscientious objection be based on religious beliefs, including existence of a supreme being, the Circuit Court held, would violate the Constitution.

The Justice Department appealed to the high tribunal, saying the decision "expressly holds unconstitutional a classification deliberately adopted by Congress in 1948 and implicitly approved in subsequent extensions and modifications of the Universal Military Training and Service Act. The decision also raises important questions concerning the permissible scope of Congress' authority to require compulsory military service."

The Supreme Court will hear argument on the government appeal in its new term, which begins next October.

The case specifically involved Daniel Andrew Seeger, an employee of the American Friends Service Committee in New York. He is in charge of the

Cude Kids Taken Under Submission

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court took the controversial Cude child custody case under submission today for rehearing.

The development was routine. Normally the court denies rehearings but consideration of a motion for one is almost automatic.

The court has been asked to reconsider its ruling that three children of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Cude of Mena must be taken from their parents, vaccinated and enrolled in school.

The three children Wayne Delia and Linda — were guests of the Arkansas governor's mansion for three days last month until a judicial agreement was worked out under which they were permitted to return home until the high court makes a final ruling in the case.

Cude, who is resisting vaccination on religious grounds, has said he will not carry the case to the U. S. Supreme Court if the Arkansas Supreme Court rules against him.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus, who took the children into the mansion to keep them from going into a Welfare Department home, has indicated he will not step in again.

The court has ruled that the children will be offered back to their parents after they are vaccinated but Cude has said he will not accept them.

In another case the court denied rehearing of its decision that Act 19 of 1964, the voter registration law, was unconstitutional in so far as it would permit or local election without having paid a poll tax.

Court Refuses to Review Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to review a decision that negro pupils have the right to entire school systems operated on a nonracial basis, including the assignment of teachers, principals, supervisory and supporting personnel.

The decision was given by a three-judge panel of the U.S. Circuit Court in New Orleans, La. It was appealed to the Supreme Court by the Board of Public Instruction of Duval County, Fla., of which Jacksonville is the county seat.

The board said the Circuit Court erroneously held that the Supreme Court's 1954 and 1955 opinions in school segregation cases dealt with assignment of school personnel. The opinions, the board's appeal said, dealt solely with the admission of children to schools on a nonracial basis.

The Circuit Court voted 2-1 in the case. In appealing to the Supreme Court the board said the Circuit Court decision conflicted directly with decisions by U.S. circuit courts in New York and Cincinnati.

The Supreme Court's refusal to hear the case lets the Circuit Court decision stand unchanged. The Supreme Court announced its refusal in a brief order, which made no comment.

No American Money to Move Statues

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee today turned down a request for funds to help pay for the removal of the ancient Egyptian statues at Abu Simbel before they are flooded by the rising waters of the Aswan Dam.

The committee rejected an administration request for $12 million to help pay the cost of moving the statues, and the temples in which they are enshrined, to higher ground.

The massive moving job is a United Nations cultural project already under way at an estimated cost of $36 million. The United States' share is $12 million.

The committee gave no explanation for its action other than to say the money request "has been disallowed." But during its hearings there was a steady undertone of objection to any appropriation to finance a project in Gamal Abdel Nasser's Egypt.

The committee action is subject to review by the House on Wednesday.

It was taken in connection with the annual appropriation bill for the State, Justice and Commerce departments, the federal courts and the U.S. Information Agency.

The bill was sent to the House floor with a recommendation that the State Department be given $343,827,000, the Justice Department $364,036,000, the Commerce Department $730,086,000, the courts $68,830,80 and the USA $166,30,000 for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The $1,702,177,000 total was $212,911,900 less than President Johnson had requested, but $145,500,000 of the cut was automatic since it represented a request for the Area Redevelopment Administration which must be authorized in separate legislation before it can be provided.

Bankers to Open Meet on Tuesday

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Bankers Association convention, which opens Tuesday in Little Rock, will feature a panel discussion on "A Banker's Opportunity in Arkansas Economic Development."

The panel moderator will be William M. Campbell, president of the First National Bank of Eastern Arkansas at Forrest City.

On the panel will be Carl Hinkle, executive secretary of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission; Frank Cantrell, executive vice president of the Arkansas Chamber of Commerce; James A. Diddy, director of industrial and area development of Arkansas Power & Light Co., and Jack Taylor of the Industrial Relations Department of the Missouri Pacific Railroad.

The program is designed to provide information to bankers and to discuss responsibility and opportunity for banks in the state's economic development.

A panel of bankers will discuss "A Banker's Opportunity in Industrial Financing as Related by a Top Bank Leader." Moderator will be Douglas Simmons, president of the Merchants and Farmers Bank of West Helena.

Suggestion for Shakespeare Stamp

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposal that the special postage stamp commemorating William Shakespeare's 400th birthday first be put on sale in Stratford, Conn., was made today by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn.

In a letter to Postmaster General John A. Gronouski, Dodd said the anniversary also marks the 10th year of Stratford's American Shakespeare Festival.

"Dedicated to offering the works of this great artist to the American public, Stratford is the most fitting location for this tribute," Dodd wrote.

Accident Due to Faulty Welding

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A break in a weld joint apparently caused the malfunction which destroyed a giant solid-fuel rocket motor and marred the dedication of a new test facility here, an Air Force spokesman reports.

The motor, a 250-ton, million-pound-thrust device, destroyed itself in a pillar of smoke and flame Saturday. It was fired as the Air Force Space Systems Division dedicated a new test-firing stand as tall as a nine-story building.

The 75-foot power plant is designed as a booster for the Titan 3C launch vehicle to be used in a manned space exploration program. Three similar motors have been test-fired successfully.

Election Suit Under Advisement

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court took a Cleveland County election contest appeal under advisement today and indicated it will stay a pending proceeding in Cleveland Chancery Court.

Attorney for County Judge Ray Curry and other Cleveland County officials asked for the delay so they can complete a case arguing that the chancery court does not have jurisdiction to try a taxpayer suit challenging results of a bond issue election.

Cleveland County Chancellor Lawrence Dawson set the case for Monday, May 11. Attorneys for Curry contend that the chancery court does not have jurisdiction to try an election contest.

Attorneys for the taxpayers argued before the Supreme Court today that no valid election was held and thus the case can be tried in chancery court. There were no objections, however, from the taxpayers side, to a delay.

Herschel Friday, attorney for the county officials, said he would have his brief and main appeal ready by Wednesday.

The Supreme court indicated it would ask for a brief from the taxpayers by May 20 so the case can be decided before the court recesses for the summer early in June.

The case involves an election last Dec. 10 at which voters approved a bond issue for an expansion of the county hospital at Rison and construction of a county nursing home. The quorum court levied a four mill tax in January to support the bond and the taxpayers suit was filed soon afterward.

Friday told the court today that if his contention that the chancery court does not have jurisdiction to try the case is upheld, then the case is closed because the deadline for filing an election contest with the circuit court has expired.

The taxpayers contend the election is invalid because no voting was conducted in White Oak and Whiteville townships.

Johnson Is the Greatest Scene Stealer

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Actors wouldn't like to work with President Johnson. At 55, he is the greatest scene-stealer of our time except maybe for Soviet Premier Khrushchev and French President de Gaulle.

But Khrushchev at 70 has quieted down and De Gaulle at 73 makes only an occasional appearance.

In the Senate the civil rights fights, weeks old and far from settled, seems as remote as a debate in a cave compared with the single picture of Johnson holding a beagle by its ears till it yelps.

The United States says it will continue its U2 flights over Cuba, and Khrushchev insists there will be trouble if it tries, but at the moment that's not half so real as Johnson making a speech to people in his garden.

Republicans torment themselves wondering about the presidential chances of Goldwater, Rockefeller, Nixon, Lodge and Scrantom but on the day Johnson exceeds the speed limit who remembers about the Republicans?

The Vietnamese war is going badly, despite all the American help. But that's hard to visualize. It's a lot easier to remember Johnson on television and radio announcing the end of the rail dispute.

This country wants to see democracy in Latin America but, while a new military government runs Brazil with an iron hand, Johnson chewing the fat with newsmen sticks in the mind.

The Soviet-Chinese split may be one of the turning points in history but, with all its complications and ideologies, it's harder to understand than Johnson dangling the promise of another tax cut, if and maybe.

Who is going to remember the dispute with Panama over the Canal Zone, lingering and unsettled, when his head is filled with stories about Johnson dancing?

It is simpler to imagine that picture of his boyhood home, which Johnson says he has hanging in his bedroom, than it is something as big and lumpy as the war on poverty and the medical care bill, now bouncing around on Congress.

The Cyprus shootings make growing ill will between Greece and Turkey, two American allies. But what that ill will can mean to the alliance, if it gets bad enough, is a lot vaguer in the memory than the Johnson statement that he rarely reads novels because his mother often used to say: "If they're not true, I'm not interested."

De Gaulle keeps on unscrewing the bolts that hold the Western alliance together but the way he does it, slowly and haughtily, doesn't seem half so real as Johnson touring the Appalachian states.

It is harder to understand the circuit court has expired.

The taxpayers contend the election is invalid because no voting was conducted in White Oak and Whiteville townships.

Notified Oil Contract Out

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — American Oil Co. here has been notified that its union contract expires July 1.

J. N. Roper, refinery manager, said the current working agreement with Local 5-434 of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union has been in effect since Jan. 1, 1964.

The union represents about three fourths of the 385 employees at the plant.

In March the local served notice it wanted to open the agreement to modification. The union asked April 10 for a five per cent increase in benefit plans, plus substantial increases in overtime rates and rates of pay for certain work classifications, Roper said.

The refinery has an annual payroll of more than $3 million. The minimum paid to union-represented employees is $2.355 per hour and the highest is $3.635. The average straight time rate is $3.22 per hour for all hourly paid employees.

No bargaining session has been scheduled, but Roper said Sunday the company was willing to set a session date.

Integration Try Is Unsuccessful

MEMPHIS (AP)—A Presbyterian minister joined a group of white and Negro students in an unsuccessful attempt to integrate Second Presbyterian Church Sunday.

Dr. Carl Pritchett of Bethesda, Md., and a small group of college students left quietly after reading a statement and being turned back by ushers.

Pritchett led the unsuccessful opposition at the recent General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. (southern) against selection of Second Presbyterian as the site of next year's General Assembly.

dispute in Congress over permitting prayers in public schools or the day-to-day racial disputes around the country than it is to recall one of Johnson's favorite sayings: "Come, let us reason together."

Alabama's Gov. George C. Wallace spends weeks in Northern presidential primaries, proving the North has segregationists, too, but one guess on who captures the eye when Johnson makes one speech at the opening of the World's Fair?

The Johnson pace, indoors and outdoors, is enough to make kids wonder, when they have to stay glued to their books, how he ever finds time for his homework.

Plan to Do Something About Reds
By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Twice every four years — when the results of the Winter and Summer Olympics show the Russians on top — everybody says: "Why don't they do something about it?"

And then they forget the whole thing.

Now, it seems, the U.S. Olympic Committee Really plans to do something about it. It will take lots of money, but mostly lots of effort by Americans.

"The Russians run until they get blood in their mouths," said Franklin L. Orth, chairman of a special committee that is heading up the program designed to beat the Russians. "They'll continue to beat us until we get some of that spirit, too."

That's the committee's job — to instill that spirit, and get all the equipment, coaches, facilities and athletes necessary to "win back our lost international prestige in sports."

Improvement won't come right away. The program isn't expected to pay off until the 1968 Games.

It is not concentrated on the glamour sports of the Games. Orth said the committee hopes to raise American levels of competition in all 27 Olympic sports, winter and summer.

"This is a big test to see if the democratic system can compete with a regimented society," Orth said. "It is a challenge to all Americans."

Orth announced the program Monday. He said the USOC recognizes that all peoples in the world attach importance to victory in the Olympics. The Russians know this, Orth said, and have deliberately set out to create an image of world leadership and try to prove that the West is decadent.

There has been talk that as a result the Russians would be professionals under American rules.

"We aren't interested in that," Orth said. "We plan to beat them with our system, and on our basis."

Two great generals, Montcalm and Wolfe, lost their lives upon Canada's Plains of Abraham in 1759.

Neville lanced warily at him over his glass of punch. In the depths of his cold blue eyes flickered a cautious interest.

"You like detective stories, is that it?"

"Yes, very much," Malcolm said truthfully. "Do you write any other kind of fiction?"

Neville's smile became icy. "No, I write only detective stories, young man. I do not call them novels of ratiocination, or novels of violence, or novels of any other sort. Neither do I call them 'entertainments,' as one of our eminent authors prefers to when he deserts God to do a bit of potboiling. He wants the job, course, so he's on a precarious tightrope. Will the Nobel Committee overlook one last thriller, for instance, if he follows it up straightaway with an abstruse and pretentious essay on the Albigensian Heresy?"

"In short, I'm not respectable. Isn't that what you wish to know?"

"Of course not," Malcolm said hastily. "I'm terribly sorry if I gave you that impression. The thing is, I'm trying to write a detective story myself. And I was just desperate enough to hope that you might give me a little help."

"I imagine you've tried epic verse, the theater, legitimate novels and the like. Having found these unsuited to your talents, you've decided to tackle detective stories, a form that any clod should be able to master in the odd weekend or so. Is that so. Is that it? Neville's smile was weary, but beneath his elaborately sardonic manner Malcolm sensed a wrath so intense and a bitterness so painful that he was touched with pity for the man.

Neville said, "You mustn't put me down as just a wash-pipe crank. But people have a habit of patronizing detective story writers. I can't see why. It's decent, honorable work, and it takes a great deal of thought and preparation to do it well."

"I'm sure of that," Malcolm said. "Also I'm sure you're bored to tears by amateurs who want to tell you their plots."

Neville was not completely mollified, but there was a bit more humor in his expression. "No, the worst of amateurs is that they have no plot. Neither do they have characters, background, or any knowledge of what's been done in the field, and what can't be done."

"Exactly. That applies to me. I don't have a plot, just a vague idea of interest."

"Which is?"

"Guns," Malcolm said. "Ah! Smuggling?"

Neville made the connection instantly and effortlessly, like a spark leaping from a negative to a positive field.

"Why, yes," Malcolm said. Neville nodded thoughtfully. "It's a line of country pretty well posted by Ambler, you realize. But there are always changes to ring. What sort of guns?"

"I hadn't given that much thought."

"I suggest you give it a great deal of thought," Neville said in pedantic accents. "If you write up a lot of nonsense about guns, the reader will put you down for an ass, and your book down with a bang, half finished."

"Yes, I understand."

"Then I suggest you decide on a specific weapon, and do some homework on it," Neville said. "And what country do you propose to smuggle them into?"

"Oh, into Spain," Malcolm said quickly.

"I'd like to tell you something about the characters," Neville said shortly, and began to pack his pipe. "Characters aren't my forte. At least it pleased the Times to declare as much several years back. Puppets — fascinating, cleverly maneuvered, but still puppets, alas!"

Neville applied a match to his pipe. "And that, in all probability, from some proudly unclean young man with half a sordid novel tucked away under his bed. But I'll give you a hint or two on where your problems will crop up. Getting the guns into Spain! That should provide a neat challenge to your ingenuity. I'd suggest you find an up-to-date map and go over it with a magnifying glass. Unless you bring them in by sea, France or Portugal will be your likeliest line of country." He smiled and poked

CORE Plans Support for Rights Bill

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Congress of Racial Equality, at a meeting of its National Action Council here, said it would stage nonviolent demonstrations in Washington to urge support for the civil rights bill and would send its own delegates to both the Republican and Democratic national conventions.

James Farmer, national director of CORE, told a news conference Sunday the civil rights organization would attempt to oust delegates from Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama at the Democratic National Convention in Atlantic City Aug. 24 and replace them with its own delegates.

Farmer said CORE planned to hold rallies at the conventions of both parties, with mass picketing to dramatize its demands.

The Republican convention is being held in San Francisco July 3.

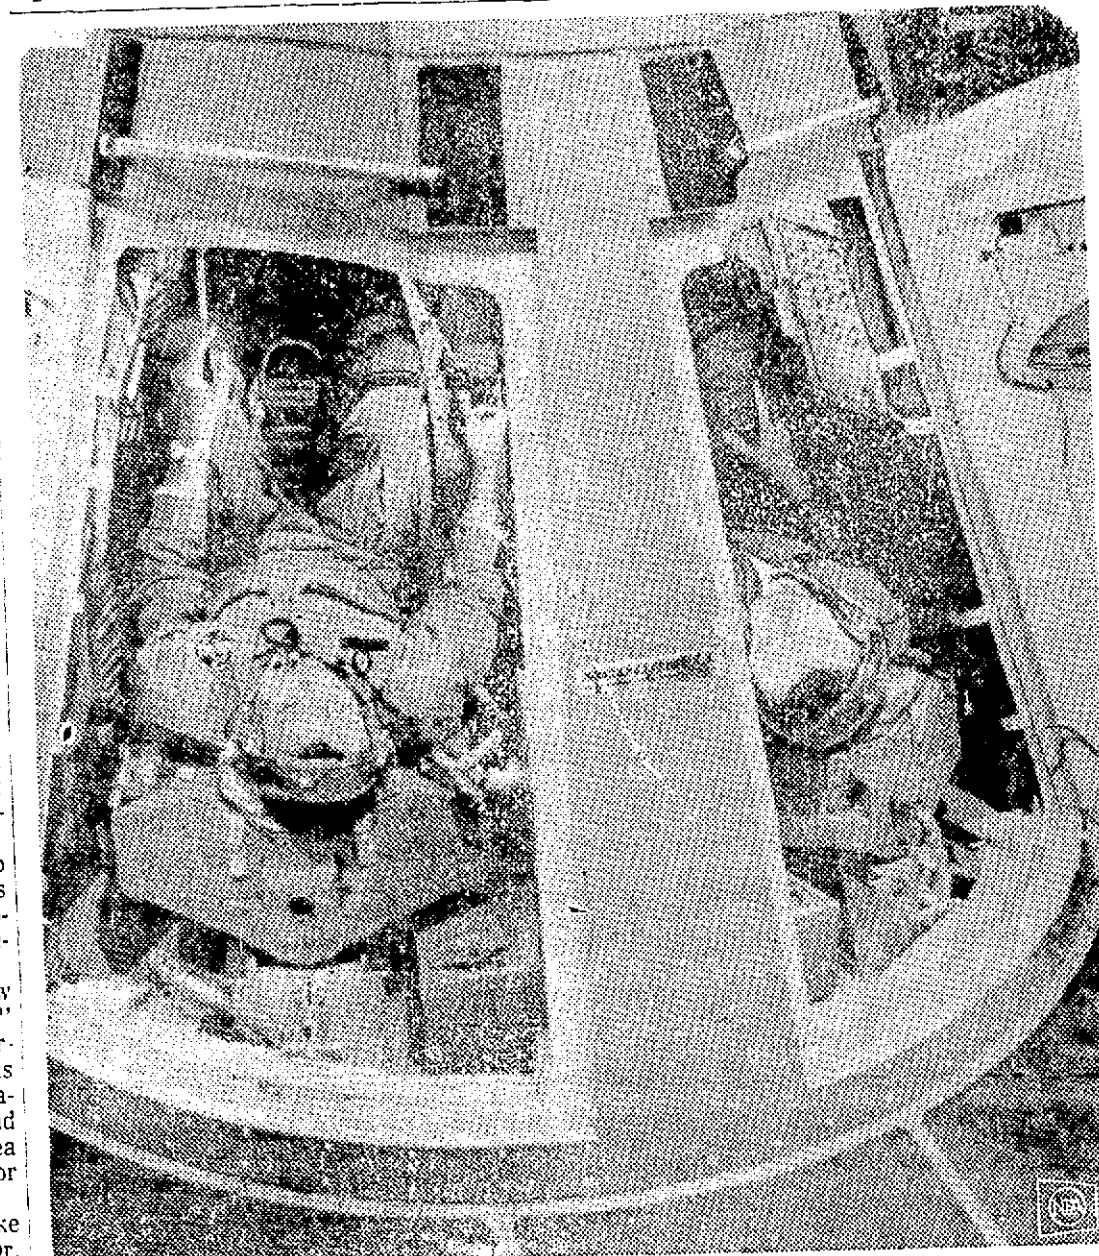

Farmer said one of the civil rights demands at the Democratic convention would be fair and full employment with a minimum $2 wage and a massive works and training program for the jobless.

At the Republican convention, he said, CORE would call for the repudiation of the "traditional alliance with Dixiecrats on civil rights."

Artificial Respiration in Practice

LANE GARNER, JUNIOR PHYSICAL education major at Southern State College and son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Garner of Rt. 1 Hope, practices mouth-to-mouth method of artificial respiration on Resuci-Anne, life sized manikin, as Orville Kraus (second from right) of the accident prevention division of the State Board of Health looks on. Watching Lane are fellow students Alex Whistler of Norman, Okla., left, and Pete Carlton of Wauchula, Fla., right. Kraus demonstrated use of the method, now taught by American Red Cross, to 125 students at Southern State.

Rights Group Plans More Activity

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Civil rights groups' spurred on by a solid week of racial demonstrations—some violent—and a pep talk by the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., pledged to be out in force again today.

A prime target will be Morrison's Cafeteria, part of a Southern chain and one of Nashville's few remaining segregated eating places. Racial demonstrators, including a number of white persons, picketed the cafeteria almost daily last week. About 100 persons were arrested, during the demonstrations.

About 70 predominantly Negro pickets showed up at Morrison's Sunday and staged orderly protests of the restaurant's segregation policy.

Inside the cafeteria, a new form of protest, the "sip-in" was born. About 200 white persons, mostly college students and faculty members, filled tables during the dinner hour and purchased only coffee or tea which they sipped for an hour or more.

"Now is the time to make Nashville an open city," Dr. King told an audience of 2,000 at a rally at Fisk University, a Negro school. "Keep moving," he said. But he urged that demonstrations be peaceful.

King, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, flew in from Atlanta just before the rally and left immediately afterwards.

GM Policy Hit by Rights Group

DETROIT (AP)—Civil rights demonstrators, protesting what one leader termed a lily white personnel policy by General Motors Corp., planned to picket GM national headquarters in midtown Detroit from noon to 6 p.m. today.

General Motors has denied it discriminates and has cited employment of nonwhites in practically every echelon of the world's largest corporation.

Arthur Johnson, spokesman for the Detroit chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said the demonstration would be "part of a national effort to get GM to change its employment practices."

Herbert Hill, national labor secretary of the NAACP contends that "General Motors is lily white" from supervisory personnel up. GM says this isn't so; that it employs Negroes in supervisory, engineering and other positions.

Negro Field Worker Gets Auto Back

STAR CITY, Ark. (AP)—William Hansen Jr., head of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating committee, has retrieved his car impounded here by police on April 15.

The car was impounded because the driver, Bruce Jordan, a SNCC field secretary, was unable to produce ownership papers after he was arrested on traffic charges. He had borrowed the car from Hansen while working on a Negro voter registration drive in Lincoln County.

Hansen paid $10.50 to get the car from a lot where it was stored. Hansen said he had been told by Police Chief Jim Best the storage charge would be $10 a day, rather than the 50 cents a day he was charged. Best denied this.

Police took the license from the car when it was impounded because state officials said it had been improperly assessed.

Hansen cannot get a license for the car until he has a hearing with the State Revenue Department.

Jordan has been fined several times on traffic charges, the latest fine coming last Thursday.

Justice of the Peace E. Workman fined Jordan $15 and court costs, a total of $26.50, on a charge of speeding in a residential district Jordan said he would appeal the conviction. He has appealed two previous convictions and fines.

He lifted Her up by the head and body. Referring to the recent furore when he picked up Him and Her by the ears so they would stand and yelp, Johnson said that "when they yelp, it's not a sign of pain, it's a sign of joy."

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

CUBA-RADAR: The Soviets have removed from Cuba a sophisticated new radar system that probably would have increased the effectiveness of Fidel Castro's anti-aircraft missiles. U.S. sources said Monday night.

The radar system, which sources said had not been seen anywhere else but in Cuba, was reported withdrawn two or three months ago.

PERIPATETIC: More than 2,000 years ago in Athens, the philosopher Aristotle lectured his pupils on morals, art and politics while walking in his garden, thus founding the peripatetic school.

Now President Johnson comes along to found the peripatetic press conference, leading White House newsmen through his garden while discussing politics, poverty, golf, family and dogs.

A seven-lap conference Monday left some of the score of reporters perspiring and a bit winded but Johnson in full stride.

The costars of the show were Him and Her whose yelps were reported around the world last week when the President lifted the two beagles by their ears.

The two dogs were being walked on a chain and Johnson called them over.

Him rolled over to have his belly scratched. Johnson obliged then lifted both dogs by the ears again while the cameramen took pictures. Someone noted that Him had not yelped and the President replied with a grin:

"He doesn't yelp unless an AP photographer gets too close to him."

U.S.-HUNGARY: The United States and Hungary have agreed to start quiet negotiations aimed at improving relations, authoritative sources reported Monday.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

RISE: Government sources report that federal tax revenue rose $1.5 billion to $24 billion during the first three months of 1964 even though the tax cut took effect March 1.

The $24-billion increase surpassed predictions by government economists, partly because the new lower tax rates went into effect a month after the Feb. 1 date on which the forecasts were based.

STAMP: The Post Office Department plans to begin national sale of the John F. Kennedy memorial stamp on May 29—the 47th anniversary of the late president's birth.

VIET NAM: The State Department's top expert on the Far East says he thinks U.S.-advised South Vietnamese forces have halted a downward trend in their war against Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

"I would say that we certainly have arrested the downward trend that has been in effect, going back some time—and that it had leveled out," William P. Bundy said Sunday on ABC's radio-television program "Issues and Answers."

STROLL: President Johnson took newsmen on a 45-minute stroll around White House grounds Saturday, answering questions, greeting tourists and playing with his two beagles.

The President made five laps around the driveways on the south grounds. At one point he clasped his hands and the two beagles—Him and Her—dutifully appeared.

He lifted Her up by the head and body. Referring to the recent furore when he picked up Him and Her by the ears so they would stand and yelp, Johnson said that "when they yelp, it's not a sign of pain, it's a sign of joy."

Justice of the Peace E. Workman fined Jordan $15 and court costs, a total of $26.50, on a charge of speeding in a residential district Jordan said he would appeal the conviction. He has appealed two previous convictions and fines.

Trade Surge Now in Its 39th Month

By JACK LEFLER

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The business upturn has entered its 39th month with few if any signs of weakening.

This makes it the longest upturn in American peacetime history.

The average duration of the 26 previous cyclical recoveries since 1854 was 30 months.

At this advanced stage, business men are continuing to raise their sights on investment plans even though the stimulus from the March tax cut is not yet clearly evident, reports the First National City Bank of New York in its current monthly economic analysis.

"Confidence in the outlook has been bolstered by the improving trend of business profits and the unexpectedly peaceful settlement of the thorny railway labor dispute, which added to hopes that moderation and good sense may prevail in other labor negotiations this year," the report said.

Earlier, business firms had been increasing their capital budgets. The latest survey by the publishing firm, McGraw-Hill, indicated that business plans to spend $44 billion this year, a gain of 12 per cent over 1963.

With the tax cut in effect only eight weeks, those who expected a sharp gain in consumer spending have been disappointed.

However, First National points out, economic performance in the first quarter as a whole could scarcely be called disappointing.

The Gross National Product—total of all goods and services—climbed to an annual rate of $658.5 billion, up $8.4 billion from the preceding quarter.

While the GNP rose more than this in the final two quarters of 1963, the bank finds it significant that $8.1 billion of the increase in the first quarter was concentrated in consumer expenditures, reflecting unusually strong demand which probably will characterize the second quarter also.

The first quarter gain in consumer spending was nearly double the average quarterly gain last year.

The 139 GOP convention delegates to be chosen this week will push the number selected to 652, almost half of the 1,308 authorized. It will take 655 to nominate a candidate.

Goldwater, leading with 209 of the 513 chosen according to an Associated Press survey, could pick up more support at the Delaware convention Tuesday and at Republican gatherings in Michigan and Wyoming Friday and Saturday.

University Dean Quits Position

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Frances M. Russell, dean of the University of Arkansas School of Nursing, has resigned effective July 1, it was announced Saturday.

Dr. David W. Mullins, university president, said the university regretted Dean Russell's decision, and commended her for able and dedicated service.

Mullins said Storm Whaley, vice president for Health Sciences at the Medical Center here, has been asked to name a faculty committee to help select a successor.

The School of Nursing faces loss of accreditation on July 1 because of a survey made late last year by the National League for Nursing.

The survey said several areas needed upgrading to keep accreditation. Among these were psychiatric and public health nursing programs.

A national debt of $10 million was incurred under the Articles of Confederation.

Voters Going to Polls in Seven States

By LARRY OSIUS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seven primary elections Tuesday touch off one of the most active pre-convention weeks of the political season.

Voters in Indiana, Ohio, Oklahoma, Alabama, Florida, New Mexico and the District of Columbia and state conventions in Delaware, Michigan, Alaska, Nevada and Wyoming will:

—Express a preference for a presidential nominee.

—Choose 139 Republican and 202 Democratic delegates to their party nominating conventions.

—Nominate candidates for two governors' mansions, four Senate seats and 63 House seats.

—Decide other issues ranging from unpledged presidential electors to a right-to-work labor law.

Most of the attention will be on Indiana, where Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama makes another bid for Northern votes in his campaign against the Johnson administration's civil rights bill. He is opposed in the Democratic presidential preference primary by Indiana Gov. Matthew E. Welsh, a stand-in for President Johnson, and three other candidates. The winner can lay claim to 51 first-ballot votes.

On the Republican side Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona is the odds-on favorite to top a field of four which includes Harold E. Stassen of Philadelphia and two lesser-known candidates. The winner gets Indiana's 32-first-ballot votes at the Republican National Convention.

Delegates to both conventions will be chosen next month.

Also at stake in Indiana are nominations for 11 House seats. Five incumbents have primary opposition, five don't. Rep. Donald C. Bruce is quitting to seek the Republican Senate nomination at the state convention next month.

In other key elections Tuesday, Ohio's Rep. Robert Taft Jr., son of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, seeks the Republican Senate nomination and former football coach Bud Wilkinson makes his political debut in Oklahoma's Senate Republican nomination race.

The 139 GOP convention delegates to be chosen this week will push the number selected to 652, almost half of the 1,308 authorized. It will take 655 to nominate a candidate.

Goldwater, leading with 209 of the 513 chosen according to an Associated Press survey, could pick up more support at the Delaware convention Tuesday and at Republican gatherings in Michigan and Wyoming Friday and Saturday.

Delegates to both conventions also will be chosen in the Ohio and District of Columbia primaries. Democratic delegates will be selected in the Alabama primary and at conventions in Alaska, Nevada and Wyoming.

Goldwater won a thumping endorsement in a relatively light turnout of Texas Republicans for a preferential poll Saturday.

His total was about three times that of the rest of the field, which included most of those mentioned for the nomination.

Henry Cabot Lodge, whose name was not on the ballot, was a distant second.

The Students Walk and Exercise

By TOM MILLER

KENTUCK FORK, W.Va. (AP)—The day begins at 8:30 a.m. at Kentuck Fork School with 10 minutes of exercise for the 14 pupils, most of whom walked a mile or more to get there.

Before the day is finished, the schoolmaster, P. J. Williamson, will attempt to dole out to five grades a smattering of reading, writing, arithmetic, history, geography, civics, science—and on Fridays, art. This year, he has no pupils in the first, fourth or seventh grades.

The one-room school is vanishing, but in West Virginia it remains an important part of the educational system. This is particularly true in predominantly rural Lincoln County, where half the county's 54 schools are one-room schools.

Kentuck Fork is one of the all-purpose classrooms in Lincoln County, and one of 381 remaining in West Virginia.

Williamson explains to his students the presence of a reporter and then begins classes.

This day was significant, because the enrollment had jumped from 12 to 14 with the arrival in Kentuck Fork of a new family. Six families are now represented in the school.

The first order of business is to determine the mathematical abilities of the new students, Kathy and Kate Turley.

Williamson calls them to his desk to question them.

At recess, the pupils clear a table of books and papers and get out a ball and jacks for a game. A few go outside on the "playground," and play on a rock formation.

The toilets are outside privies. The "drinking fountain" is a bucket and dipper. Water is carried from the well of a nearby house.

"They tried to drill a well here once, but the water wasn't fit to drink," Williamson explained.

A shake of a bell brings the students together again.

Williamson has been a teacher 42 years. He retires at the end of this term.

He's taught at larger schools and has been a principal. Why did he spend his last year at Kentuck Fork?

One reason is that he lives nearby. For another, no one else seemed to want the job.

When the present, white-painted, cinder block structure was built, 30 children were enrolled.

The drop to 14 in eight years has been brought about by a migration of Kentuck Fork families to industrial cities in the North.

The families remaining tend to be small farms, perhaps work in a coal mine.

Children who continue their education after the eighth grade will have to walk three miles to a paved road to get the school.

Wounds Taxi Driver, Ends His Own Life

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP)—A Louisiana man who later took his life, wounded a Texarkana taxi driver here Saturday.

Police said Elmer Snow, 47, was shot in the back by Frank Morris Smith, 46, of Rodessa, La. Snow was treated and released at a hospital here.

Officers later found Smith's body in woods near the area where he fired at Snow.

Snow said his passenger told him to drive out on a road on the outskirts of Texarkana, then told the driver he was going to kill himself and might as well kill Snow.

was held in conjunction with primaries for state and national offices in both parties.

Gov. John M. Connally and Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough won Democratic nominations in their bids for new terms. George Bush and Jack Cox led in the GOP Senate primary and will fight it out in a runoff election June 6.

In other weekend activity, Goldwater picked up eight more delegates in Georgia, Missouri and Tennessee. Maine Republicans pledged their 14 first-ballot votes to Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, a favorite daughter.
